

Desert Insight Meditation

Wednesday evenings From 6:30-8:00pm

The Desert Insight Meditation Group is on break until Wednesday, August 21.

You are invited to join a weekly Sitting Group with other like-minded people in the Insight Meditation Tradition. We will meet together weekly to meditate, listen to Dharma talks, have group discussions, and practice mindful inquiry. This weekly group is open to beginner meditators, intermediate students and long-time practitioners. The topic of each month's group will vary and be from 4-6 weeks in duration and will be directly related to Buddhist teachings. The intention is to develop continuity in practice.

Spiritual friendship is one of the great gifts of being in a spiritual study group, also known as community or sangha. Our group is the Desert Insight Meditation Community. In joining and participating we begin from the place of holding spiritual friendships in the forefront of our practice together. We accept all members equally respecting our diversity, ethnicity, race, gender, religion and to meet others where they are without judgment, to honor their process, to listen mindfully, and to speak from a mindful place without harm and with loving kindness. We come to know that we can be safe, supported in our practice, and engender trust in others.
